

the City Administration negotiating team replied, they spoke directly for the Mayor and he himself answered our letter of request for such a meeting that it was not necessary now since we were meeting with City Council.

It appears no one in City Administration or City Council wants the responsibility of setting a fair and acceptable pay figure. We have always stated and implied the $2,000 salary increase figure was negotiable. It appears that the City and F.O.P. are not looking at our mutual problems with the same perspective we should. It is apparent or should be, that to not resolve this confusion will endanger the main concern of all, and that is Public Service to the fullest capabilities by both the City and the Police Officers as paid for and deserved by the Citizens of Columbus.

In your letter of March 12, 1971, it states "every effort should be made to resolve differences at the collective bargaining table." We heartily endorse this. We offer arbitration as compared to the City Administration offering mediation. We hope that City Council will sit down and work with the F.O.P. on this problem as we cannot resume talks with the City Administration because of their firm stand. In your letter, there is no mention that they are waiving on their position.

We certainly agree with your intention of letting the News Media in on these talks as the Public (from our receiving of mail) feels that a larger portion of the increase in City Income Tax recently passed was earmarked for City Employee raises. Last year, the City without an increase in Tax granted approximately a 7% raise to the Policemen and this year with an increase in the Income Tax, the City is offering somewhere between 2% and 6.1% depending on where the Officer is in the Step Plan. This, of course, is confusing in itself.

We request that City Council review its position on pay talks and respectfully forward our desire to work with you on this mutual problem.

Fraternally yours,
